What Is CIVIC (CVC)?

Unlike any other decentralized identity technology, Civic gives people complete command over their own personally identifiable information (PII). Users have more say over who can see their data and where it is kept because to the platform's cryptographically protected distributed database.

You can see the usefulness and possibility of such a system's change right away. It has the potential to expand access to personal information, decrease instances of identity fraud and theft, and fix critical vulnerabilities in the bitcoin industry. This kind of system has the potential to revolutionize the storage and management of data in many other domains, including online credentials, banking, travel documents, credit, and more.

With Civic's mobile app, users can securely store sensitive information on their smartphones with the help of biometric locks or encryption, thereby enhancing civic identification services. Users are given more control over their data and the numerous security risks associated with storing it in a central database are reduced as a result.

With the CVC token as a motivator, the Civic team intends to completely decentralize the system. When it comes to Civic's future, the team undoubtedly has some ambitious plans. In their future Civic system, people would have full control over identity verification and data censorship will be impossible, according to them. Civic has the potential to utterly transform the current state of identity management if the platform does indeed achieve that level of success.

Civic (CVC) Price History

Civic is presently trading at $0.1080 and is ranked #273 in the entire crypto ecosystem, according to the latest data available. With a marketcap of $107,998,763, Civic has a circulation supply of 1,000,000,000.I

Over the last day, the value of the cryptocurrency has dropped by 12.21 percent. The market cap of the CVC is down as well as it was yesterday if we compare the two.

Joining forces with other crypto currency is proving challenging for Civic. The CVC has dropped by nearly -10.67% in the past week. Although the coin may have solid fundamentals, we do not believe it would be a successful asset in the near future due to the risky framing portions that have been visible for the previous few days.

In the past 30 days, the price of CVC has dropped 5.924%, removing an enormous amount of $0.0068 off its present worth. The coin is currently in a dip due to this unexpected decline, which could be a great opportunity to buy for quick investment.

In the last 90 days, the price has fluctuated between an average of $0.0992 and a top of $0.1086, reflecting a change of about 1.30%.

Civic has demonstrated an upward tendency for the past four months. This leads us to believe that comparable market segments enjoyed a great deal of popularity throughout that time. Data collected as of recently shows that Civic's trading volume has been on the rise over the past four months. Its pricing is highly dependent on the trading volume.

Over the last four months, the average price of the currency has ranged from roughly $0.0822 to a high of about $0.0875, an increase of 27.41%.

Is Civic (CVC) a Good Investment?

Since scarcity often leads to price increases, Civic's worth is anticipated to keep growing. Any investment carries with it the possibility of loss. Do as much information as you can and focus on what you can do before drawing any conclusions.

If the cryptocurrency market as a whole does well, Civic will have a bright future. Make sure you're employing the correct approach while investing in CVC.
