As numerous crashes occur, cryptocurrencies have been on a sporadic journey through 2022. These cryptocurrency crashes have caused tokens such as Bitcoin (BTC), Ether (ETH), Solana (SOL) and Terra (LUNA) to plummet in value. However, there are three blockchain networks that have shown signs of greatness through this time of uncertainty, Tamadoge \(TAMA\), Big Eyes Coin \(BIG\) and Shiba Inu (SHIB).

Tamadoge: Play-to-Earn Game with Huge Potentials

Tamadoge (TAMA) is a new crypto that has sparked considerable interest in the cryptocurrency world. Though the project has not yet opened and is presently wrapping up its presale, it has generated attention and a supportive community of investors. Tamadoge was one of the first meme currencies to include an NFT platform, its own metaverse known as the Tamaverse, and other standard blockchain characteristics like the P2E mechanism and token usage.

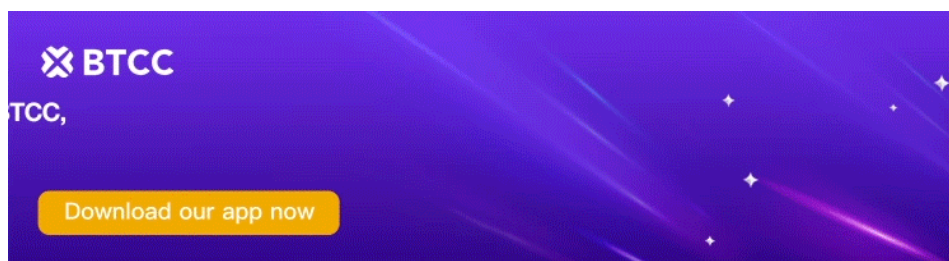

Furthermore, to guarantee that Tamadoge's value is produced by the project rather than the traders that use it in the industry, the token has no transaction or gas fees. This capability is anticipated to be swiftly embraced by industry traders for day-to-day operations.

The Tamadoge presale employs an incremental price increase method, resulting in continual growth in the value of TAMA tokens as they are sold. Tamadoge cleared out its presale on September 18th, earning $19 million. The token will now trade for $0.03, a threefold increase over the beginning price. As a result, early presale investors will immediately see a price hike with Tamado.

Being an ERC-20 token, the Tamadoge contract code has been audited by Solid Proof and the team KYC has been verified by CoinSniper.

Big Eyes Coin with Cute Aesthetics

Big Eyes Coin \(BIG\) has received a lot of attention online owing to its competition with another new meme token, Tamadoge (TAMA). BIG's market mission is to bring wealth into the decentralized finance ecosystem while also attempting to safeguard an essential element of the world's environment.

Meme coins often follow the practice of centering their brand on dogs. Big Eyes Coin's uniqueness originates from its mascot, an anime/manga-style cat with large pupils. Their design is centered on cuteness, which the developers claim will target a $1 billion market. In contrast to how meme currencies like Dogecoin and Shiba Inu sell themselves, this makes the coin's aesthetics readily recognizable.

The coin also seeks to be useful by including a charity wallet in which 80% of the 200,000,000 tokens accessible will be dedicated to ocean conservation efforts. BIG also plans to create a unique NFT collection, where content creators can post their artwork for people to purchase. They aim to make this collection hit the top ten markets while having all profits from these NFTs go into a burn or not to burn vote.

Dogecoin Killer: Shiba Inu

Shiba Inu (SHIB) is known as the second most profitable meme coin behind Dogecoin (DOGE). It has dubbed itself the 'Dogecoin Killer' as it views itself as a direct competitor to Dogecoin. SHIB came into fruition in August 2020 by an anonymous individual who goes by the pseudonym 'Ryoshi'.

Ryoshi has expressed that they are unimportant and that any efforts to reveal their identity, even if successful, would be ineffective. The popularity of the blockchain gained pace and value as a community of investors were pulled in by the coin's charming charm along with news and tweets from celebrities like Elon Musk and Vitalik Buterin.

Vitalik Buterin, who is the Ethereum co-founder, was responsible for elevating SHIB's success by conducting the biggest crypto donation in history. Buterin donated approximately $1 billion worth of SHIB to a COVID-19 relief fund in India.

The blockchain network recently announced that they will release a collectible card game called "Shiba Eternity" on October 1, 2022. The beta version of the game has received a 4.9 out of 5 star rating on the iOS App Store, indicating positive signs of success.
