What is Cardano (ADA)?

Cardano is a blockchain centered network that can run its main network. Cardano was founded by Hong Kong input-output (iohk) company led by Charles hoskinson, developer of bitshares and co-founder of Ethereum.

Moreover, Charles hoskinson created the Cardano network to provide a platform for developers to develop smart contracts and decentralized applications (dapps). Recently, Cardano was upgraded to gogue main network, which is a blockchain technology that provides token lock network function.

Throughout 2021, Cardano's native token ADA won the attention of traders and investors. At the time of writing this article in February 2022, the current price of ADA against the US dollar was US $1.03713.

Things That Affect the Price of Cardano

In the past year, Cardano has proved to be one of the most active cryptocurrency assets in the cryptocurrency world. When the hard bifurcated Alonzo was launched in early September 2021, the price of ADA also hit a record high.

This upgrade has attracted wide public attention and has become the main factor driving the price rise of ADA.

Cardano Alonzo's long-awaited upgrade was finally launched. It brings smart contracts into its blockchain, allowing developers to build decentralized applications (dapps) and enter the world of defi (decentralized Finance) and NFT.

"This upgrade is the result of six years of hard work with some of the smartest people in blockchain and other fields," said Charles Hoskinson, founder of Cardano.

After hitting a record high of $3.03 in September 2021, the price of Cardano continued to decline, sideways around $2 in October, and then the value of ADA decreased on November 10, 2021 until it finally broke out.

Experts' Forecast of Cardano Price in 2022
